Preserving the Past is our Gift to the Future

The Homestead

The 200 year old Wallisch Homestead on 99 acres has a 1914 Dutch Colonial Revival house with one wing dating before 1820, a Dutch Colonial Revival stone barn, an Arts and Crafts style creamery from 1914, and two wood post and beam barns.

The homestead is a pastoral setting with a three-acre environmental trail, meandering creeks and a scenic vista of Bearfort Mountain, all nestled between downtown West Milford and Greenwood Lake. It was bequeathed to the township by brothers Louis and John Wallisch, who visited the farm on family vacations, and was known to them as "Camp Wallisch."

Events

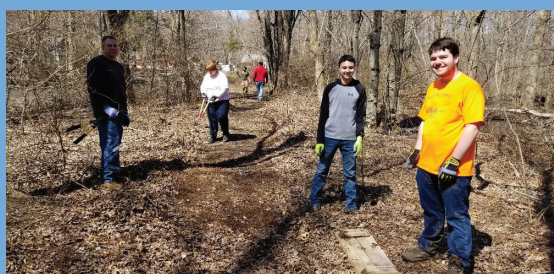

Events are held year-round and there's something for everyone. Along with hiking the trail and just enjoying the scenery, we regularly host events such as our juried Art exhibition, summer Music Festival, super Barn sales, yoga classes, Scouting and fun events such as Cornhole tournaments and children's events.

Volunteering There are many opportunities during events or restoration activities that allow anyone with a little time to apply their talents and meet new friends. If you or your group would like to volunteer for projects or help out at fundraising events, we welcome you to contact us at: WallischHomestead@gmail.com.

Our Mission

We don't just want to save another old house. The Friends believe that the Wallisch Homestead offers a unique variety of historic, cultural, and recreational opportunities for both residents and visitors.

Our goal is to stabilize and preserve the buildings from further damage. Once the structures are preserved, our long-term goal is the adaptive reuse of the buildings and property in keeping with their scenic and historic setting, as a community exhibition space and learning center.

Please join us as we preserve our past and support West Milford's future.
